President's Report May 2007

As I had mentioned at the April general meeting unfortunately Dan Alderman had to step down as a board member. I am sorry to see Dan leave, but I know he doesn't have a choice in the matter. When a board member can not fill out their term the President has to appoint someone to take their place. I have had a number of people suggested to me, but I have not spoken to any of them about taking the position. If you are interested in becoming a board member please contact me by email at dmarsh@montana.edu or at my work number 994-5093.

We had six people attend the Lewistown convention which is double what we had attended last year. Next year I hope to see all eight of the delegate chairs filled. I heard a lot of positive comments about our horse display. There will be more of a write up of the convention later in the newsletter but I want to emphasize a few items. The 2008 convention will be hosted by the Charlie Russell chapter in Great Falls and I would like to see a lot of you attend. We will need to have a lot of people attend so we can get good ideas on how to host a convention because we will have to host the convention the following year in 2009. We need to start early with getting a committee formed and start dividing up the chores. This can be a big fund raiser for the club if we can get a lot of the expenses donated or reduced. Our own Rich Inman was nominated from the floor and voted in as the new Alternate National Director. Congratulations to Rich on his new job!

We had a timely program on Equine conditioning by Misty Radue just in time for some great information that we could share at our Horse Safety Clinic. Sabrina presented us with a check for the balance of the proceeds from her excellent EQUUS Clinic that was attended by five people from our club. I want to thank Sabrina for taking on the duties of the Program Director and her donation of time with the EQUUS Clinic and the Horse Safety Clinic.

I want to thank Janice Cartwright for all of her work in chairing the Horse Safety Clinic. It was a great success with around 70 people attending. The lectures at the beginning on Equine and Human First Aid were well received by everyone in attendance. The last minute tack sale had a lot of nice items for sale and Janice hopes to expand on it next year. The clinic brought in a number of new members and was a very good way to get the Back Country Horsemen some great publicity.

Bob Steinman is going to need a lot of help in getting everything together for our Poker Ride. If you can help with anything please give him a call or put your name down on the work request sheets that will be passed around at the meetings. If you know of any businesses you frequent that may be able to donate something please contact them and keep our excellent reputation of having the best prizes of any Poker Ride in the area.

I will not be able to make the State Delegate meeting in Lincoln on May 5th as I will be out of town attending a conference. If you are interested in seeing what the delegate meetings are all about contact Rich Inman and see if you can tag along.

Respectfully submitted,
Dan Marsh

LAST MINUTE PRESS RELEASE

T 2007 BCHMT Convention Report

We had six delegates from the Gallatin Valley Chapter that were in attendance at the 2007 Back Country Horsemen of Montana convention held in Lewistown's Yogo Inn on March 30th through April 1st.

The pre-pre-convention meeting made up of the senior state delegates from each chapter met at Noon on Friday to present a list of nominees for the state officers and delegates. Ron Stuber was nominated for Chairman, Charlie O'Leary for Vice Chairman, Mark Himmel and Laurie Crawford for Treasurer. Chuck Miller for National Director, Dave Crawford and Dave Schiltz for Alternate National Director.

The pre-convention meeting began at 1:00 PM where all of the Committee Chairmen presented information on Issues, Education, Membership, Newsletter, Forest Travel Plans, Website, Defensive Horse Safety, Agency Liaison and Resolutions. There was some discussion on how to get the dues in to the treasurer on time. The majority voted to keep the 50/50 ticket income going to the state organization instead of the club. Gallatin chapter voted to have it go to the club. There was a vote to pay for the newsletter editors travel expenses for one year to see if it helps improve the content of the state newsletter. Dave Crawford asked for help on the Boy Scout Rally on June 14th-17th at the Seiben ranch. The BCH is going to present LNT techniques to the scouts on June 15th and 16th. They are working on creating a Defensive Horse safety video that could be used to present the Horse Safety course instead of having to hold the clinics. The chapters that were supposed to hold the next state convention declined so the Gallatin chapter was asked if they would host the 2008 convention. We told them we thought we would need more time to make that happen but we would discuss it. The state needs people to attend the LNT training so they can become master trainers and train more people in each of the chapters.

There were more vendors showing their wares at this conference than I have ever seen. The Nine Mile pack string also had their display set up where the chapters had their display boards. We got our horse set up and the pictures hung and had a number of positive comments from the people looking over the displays.

The general session began at 8:00 AM with the presentation of the flag and an invocation. The host club presented a humorous slide show of their events and projects. We tackled the resolutions and it was quite civil compared to some earlier conventions. Our resolution was passed and amended to include all of the Montana Forest supervisors. The resolution from Missoula to not contribute to the Legal Fund was withdrawn. The other resolutions were passed with quite a few modifications. None of the resolutions from the other states were approved by our state to support them at the National Convention. The BCHMT contributed $351,417 in volunteer hours for 2006. That figure is using $18 for skilled labor and $15 for all other labor. The presentations were very informative. Bob Hoverson asked people to attend the LNT training and gave a run-down of all of the classes offered. John Favro of the Forest Service and David Jaynes a BLM representative talked about the latest rulings affecting trails and trail maintenance budget the FS recently received. John Favro said he has $600,000 set aside to remove Blow-Down this year. He said the trail maintenance budget is the same as last year, but the recreation budget was cut back. Allen Rowley of the Northern Divide Grizzly Project researcher presented a talk on the DNA sampling that was done recently. The next step is to get a good head count to start the delisting process. Mack Long a Wolf recovery expert spoke on the current plans for delisting the Wolf.

The numbers of Wolves are way above those needed to get them delisted so he thinks they have a strong case to fight off the lawsuits. If you want to see the Gray Wolf delisted send a letter before May 6th to the following address USFWS, Western Gray Wolf Recovery Coordinator, 585 Shepard Way, Helena, MT. 59601.

We met again on Sunday morning to wrap up business and Charlie Russell agreed to host the 2008 Convention in Great Falls. We are next in line to host the Convention here in 2009. Our own Rich Inman was nominated from the floor and voted in as our new Alternate National Director. He will attend the National meeting if Chuck or Ken can't make it. Mark Himmel is the new Treasurer and the rest of the officers stayed on for another term.

At the Post-convention meeting we set the dates and places for the next State Board meetings as May 5th at Lambkins in Lincoln, September 8th at the Broken Arrow in Deer Lodge, and December 8th at Smoke Elser's Barn in Missoula.

Misty Radue on Equine Conditioning, By Nancy Winget

Misty Radue, co-owner of Bar R Performance Horses, spoke to our club April 19th regarding conditioning for trail rides. She stated that the horse and rider’s safety rely heavily on the condition of both. Horses can and do get sore and lethargic or can get antsy on a ride if they are in poor condition. Horses in poor condition get sore in their back, hind quarters, or hocks. The rider’s experience on the trail is better if they have taken the time to condition their horse. Misty emphasized that forcing a horse to take a difficult and/or long trail without being in condition is not fair to the horse and can be dangerous to the rider.

To start conditioning she suggests keeping the conditioning simple and enjoyable for both horse and rider. Walk with your horse 15 - 20 minutes. Let the horse work to his left and right as all horse tend to move better on one side. If you have a geriatric horse you should consider walking with the horse for 1 or 2 weeks. Then begin with a soft and slow trot, moving into an extended trot. The extended trot will stretch out the muscles and is good for bones and hard tissue. As a rule of thumb, trot for twenty minutes, but vary length depending on age or condition of the horse. Loping is good for the lungs and blood circulation and is also the exercise that will make them look good. Always, always, always include a cool down period for your horse after conditioning. Four days a week is optimum for conditioning, approximately 1 hour per day. It is a good idea to use your trail gear during conditioning to be familiar with your tack and learn if adjustments may have to be made. You don’t want problems on the trail.

On trail rides each member should make sure that the following items are available or to see that these items are somewhere among the group of riders: food and water, Butte paste - 2 grams should be given if the horse appears to be sore, diaper - good to use in case horse is hurt and easier to pack than gauze and tape, duct tape - great for a loose horse shoe, pliers or shoe pullers - in case the shoe is too lose to be taped, finally the gun - in case a horse is seriously injured and cannot return to the trail head.

While on the trail riders should be aware of surroundings at all times. Remember that bears, bikes and other occurrences may cause a horse to panic and run. Practice the one rein stop, and be prepared to use it on the trail. Look for an open spot if the trail is narrow.

Misty noted it is not unusual to see a fat horse on the trail and that is unfair to the horse.

GVBCH 2007 Defensive Horsemanship Clinic, by Jiffie Hale

Last year we practiced. This year we performed. We surpassed all expectations by choosing to open to the public. And the public responded. As a matter of fact the public responded better than our members in attendance. Shame on you members...you missed an exceptional day of learning. I thought I knew a lot of everything having earned my top ten silver buckle in Old Dominion's 100 mile-one-day endurance ride—you don't earn that without knowledge; fox hunting and jumping---you again don't stay with the hunt or asked back without knowledge; driving an Arab, a Thoroughbred, and a Morgan---very dangerous without knowledge; and finally riding in Montana's mountains---one knows that knowledge and common sense prevail. As I say, I thought I knew a lot, but this day gave me an insight to many more things I did not know. Spending "bits and pieces" at each session, I came away feeling very proud of our club rich with members who were our knowledgeable instructors. Could next year be even bigger and better? We could strive to make the reputation of The Gallatin Valley Backcountry Horsemen the scholars who put on the exceptional clinic of learning Defensive Horsemanship. We don't need any more practice, we just need to perform -- a bigger one each year.

Has anyone ever known such an energetic, capable, and enthusiastic gal than our Janice Cartwright? How she managed to put on such a spectacular clinic is beyond me. She had everything extremely organized, including the tack sale. She choose our excellent and knowledgeable instructors including those coming from the outside with Dr. Warren and Bonnie Hash. Members and guests remarked about much they learned -- and that was our purpose. Thank you, Janice, for doing a remarkable job.

Thanks also to Sherrie White for the wonderful press release given the Chronicle for our clinic. The Chronicle did do some cutting/editing however, but her press release brought us the public who attended. Thanks Sherrie, for a job well done and being an asset to the club.

Also, thanks go to Maggie Goertz for the splendid flyer she had composed for our club. It tells about GVBCCH with added colorful pictures. These were left on the table for handouts and they seem to move on to the attendees. Maggie, you are doing a spectacular job and we await your final draft on our club brochure. It will be a good one. Thanks, Maggie, for your time well spent on our publicity and also for being an asset to the club.

Members do take notice of how these new members are pitching in and working. YOU NEW FOLKS ARE A WELCOME INFUSION FOR GVBCCH. You join, pitch right in and get a job done. We are proud to have you. Thank you all.

There were four new members that joined while at our clinic, and along with six new members who attended at the last general meeting, we gained 10 new members in just 48 hours. The membership drive is running wild. One wonders who will win that belt buckle in December. Have you not heard? Any member that brings in the most new members starting Jan 1 to Dec 1, 2007 wins the $90 Backcountry Horseman silver belt buckle to be awarded at our Christmas party. Go for it!

Horse and Bikes: Clark Kinney spoke to the group asking us to sign a petition to the Forest Service requesting that certain areas not be designated as wilderness. If an area is designated as wilderness it is closed to bicycles. Clark asked us to consider the families with small children or others who cannot afford horses also enjoy using the outdoors. He is a member of a local bike group that would like to work with us on trail clearing, and on being good trail partners. The petition was circulated.

Poker Ride: Bob Steinman is chairman with assistants - the Whites and the Wingets. Bob stressed that it is important that members seek prize donations. Janice has a list of prizes that she has already received. Please note that if you do contact a business or individual regarding a donation - advise Bob. We need to make sure that we do not overwhelm folks with our donation requests.

Horse Safety Clinic: Registration starts at 8:30am. Presently we have 65 interested attendees. Janice has expanded the clinic to include a tack and horse sale.

Janice and Nancy will bring goodies to the next meeting.

Dan Marsh announced that Dan Alderman is forced by his work situation to step down from his Director position. Anyone interested in the position should contact Dan Marsh.

Janice announced that she is still sponsoring riding at the Fairgrounds in the evenings.

Meeting adjourned at 9:30 PM.
