

Last Chance Back

Freeze branding was a success with 40 some members, branded 5 animals and ate an incredible pot luck, with some of the most diverse Dutch oven dishes. From beef bourguignon, dutch oven pizza, elk meat balls, to the prize winners of white chicken chili and peach cobbler.

Even though the weather wasn't cooperating we were still able to have our packing exercise, and thanks to Neil for demonstrating the use of packing with lumber bunks for hauling bridge planks.

After moving inside Tony conducted the May meeting and business as usual

Special thanks to the amazing helpers that made sure we had food, stuff to eat it with and made sure the Dutch ovens were hot and ready.

Many thanks to all that showed up early to help set up and stayed late to put everything away.

NOTE FROM TONY:

Hunters update: there are 19 trees of various sizes before you get to lower kennedy. Some may just be easier to reroute around and just before lower kennedy is an absolute mess. The bugs were horrible and i did not go past there. Cut 1/2 dozen or so that i couldnt get over or around. Good 30+ mile riding weekend any ways.
